

NOTE LM NOTEBOOK GPT

Question

Best Anime of 2025

Note LM Generated Response

That's a fun question, but it's impossible to say what the "best anime of 2025" will be right now! We're still in mid-2024, and many of the biggest anime for next year haven't even been announced yet, let alone aired.

However, we can make some highly speculative guesses based on ongoing trends, confirmed productions, and highly anticipated adaptations:

What to Look Out For (Potential Candidates for "Best" if they air in 2025):

1. Highly Anticipated Sequels: These are almost always strong contenders because they have established fanbases and often build on successful previous seasons.

- Jujutsu Kaisen Season 3: Given the immense popularity of the Shibuya Arc (Season 2), a third season covering the Culling Game is almost a certainty. If it airs in 2025, it would be a massive hit.

- Chainsaw Man Season 2: While nothing official has been confirmed yet, MAPPA's adaptation of the first part was visually stunning, and fans are desperate for more. If it gets a 2025 release, expect huge hype.

- One-Punch Man Season 3: It's been confirmed, but no release date yet. If it lands in 2025, the return of Saitama and company will definitely be a major event.

- Demon Slayer: Hashira Training Arc / Infinity Castle Arc: The "Hashira Training Arc" movie/TV season is coming in 2024. Depending on pacing, the highly anticipated "Infinity Castle Arc" could potentially begin in late 2025, which would be a colossal event.

- Mushoku Tensei: Jobless Reincarnation Season 3 (or later half of S2 if split): This is a critical darling in the isekai genre, and further adaptations are highly likely.

- My Hero Academia (Season 8 or beyond): With the series likely heading towards its climax, future seasons will undoubtedly be massive. Season 7 is in 2024, so Season 8 could be late 2025 or 2026.

2. New Adaptations of Popular Manga/Light Novels: Every year brings a few manga that finally get their anime debut, often to great fanfare.

- Sakamoto Days: This action-comedy manga is incredibly popular and consistently ranked high in Shonen Jump. An anime announcement seems inevitable, and 2025 could be its year.

- Blue Box: Another very popular Shonen Jump romance/sports manga. Its adaptation would be highly anticipated.

- Dandadan (Confirmed for Fall 2024): While it's 2024, its success could lead to a quick follow-up season or set a high bar for new adaptations in 2025.

- Keep an eye out for other popular titles from Shonen Jump, Kodansha, Square Enix, etc., that haven't been adapted yet!

3. Original Works from Renowned Studios/Creators: Sometimes, the "best" anime comes out of nowhere as an original project from a top studio (like Wit Studio, Production I.G., Madhouse, Kyoto Animation, TRIGGER, Science SARU, etc.) or a visionary director. These are impossible to predict but often become critical darlings.

How to Stay Informed:

- Official Announcements: Keep an eye on major anime news sites (Crunchyroll News, Anime News Network, MyAnimeList, etc.) and the social media channels of big studios.

- Jump Festa, AnimeJapan, and other Conventions: These events are where many major announcements are made for future anime seasons.

- Trailers: Once trailers start dropping in late 2024 and early 2025, you'll get a better sense of production quality and excitement.

Ultimately, the "best" anime is subjective! What one person loves, another might find mediocre. But the anticipation for new stories and the continuation of beloved sagas makes waiting for the 2025 lineup exciting!

Metadata

Model Used:

NoteLM v1.1.0

Generated At:

2026-02-22 21:21:24 India Standard Time

API Latency:

11.8288 seconds